

Summer Piano Students say...

"My favorite activity was learning and playing duets. I think it improved my sight-reading, and it was just fun to learn something new."

"I liked the small group lessons. It was fun to hear what other people were playing and to learn different techniques."

"I learned to hear new things. My theory has improved greatly. I thought that performing in front of others really improved my playing and gave me more confidence for the recital."

Summer Music Faculty

Donald Morelock is an extraordinary teacher and musician, whose students have gone on to win international competitions, enroll in leading music schools, and enjoy rich careers as musicians and conductors. A frequent performer and speaker at national conferences, he has received five national awards for excellence in piano teaching.

Julia Siciliano holds a bachelor's degree from the Eastman School of Music and recently completed her Master of Music at the University of Michigan. She has received honors for her performances in several national and international competitions and has performed extensively.

Michele Mustert

holds Bachelor and Master of Music degrees in Piano Performance and Pedagogy, and has been teaching in the Schoolcraft Piano Program since 1997. She has been a faculty member at the Summer Piano Camp many times and has also been on staff at University of Michigan, MacPhail School of Music in Minneapolis and St. Thomas Conservatory of Music in St. Paul, Minnesota. She has adjudicated for MMTA Student Achievement Testing Day as well as for other piano festivals.

Ann Marie Cohoon

has been on the faculty of Schoolcraft Piano Academy since 2003, teaching in both group and private settings. She has a creative and enthusiastic teaching style that has been a significant plus in the Summer Piano Camp over the years. Ms. Cohoon has studied piano with Joel Schoenhals at Eastern Michigan University.

“I think that I practice better now because I count much more than I used to. This way, I can achieve more in one practice session.”
