The merger of art and computer technology is the basis of the variety of certificate and degree options available for students who want a career in Computer Graphic Technology.

Students learn how to use professional-level computer software, hardware and peripherals, along with the principles of design, typography and color theory to create effective print and electronic visual communications.

What You Will Learn

3D and Video Graphics
Students will learn to create 3D objectives and composite with special effects and motion graphics.

Graphic Arts
The program focuses on blending traditional art techniques with the use of professional graphic design software to create illustrative, fine-art and graphic media.

Web and Interactive Media
Provides students with web development, technical programming and graphic design skills needed to build web and multimedia sites.

What can I earn?*

- Graphic Designer
  $45,900
- Multimedia Artists and Animators
  $63,630
- Web Page Designer and Developer
  $63,490

*Median salary according to US Bureau of Labor Statistics